The Asian Society of Abdominal Radiology (ASAR) is an apolitical, non-profit organization, dedicated to promoting and coordinating the scientific, intellectual and professional activities of radiology in all Asian countries. The society's mission is to serve the health care needs of the general public through the support of science, teaching and research and the quality of service in the field of Asian radiology. The ASAR meeting, Asian Congress of Abdominal Radiology (ACAR) has taken place biennially since the 1st meeting in Miyazaki, Japan in June 2007.

We aim to advance the study of abdominal imaging and intervention, in Asia, by encouraging radiological and clinical excellence, teaching, research and further education in the subspecialty, and ultimately to strengthen the Asian radiology and to reinforce competitiveness compared to American or European radiology

Play your own role in Asian most prestigious abdominal imaging meeting by submitting abstracts for our various categories:
